THE CYCLONE'S WORK.

Terrible Dévastation Caused in Charleston, S. C., By the Recent Cyclone-Losses Aggregating Over $1,000,000 - A Wreck-Strewn Coast-The Ocean Covered With the Remnants of Wrecked or Dismantled

AUGUSTA, GA., August 27 .- Tuesday's storm in Charleston was a cyclone in the proper sense of the term, entirely different from the usual August storms or the coast equinoxial gales. The wind was finally run up to seventy or eighty miles an hour. The northern edge of the cyclone touched Charleston and completed its passage in forty minutes. The streets of Charleston were not more desolate at the end of a two hours bombardment during the war. The storm began properly at daylight from the southeast, with frequent gusts. As early as 6 a. m. the roof of St. Michael's Church was stripped. At seven o'clock the apparatus in the roof of the signal office, the flagstaff and weathervane were demolished, the last observation before the climax of destruction recorded the wind at sixty-eight miles an hour. The water in the river came over the granite wall on the battery, breaking flagstones and washing away railings, and tons of sea water were hurled in upon handsome residences, breaking windows and smashing doors. The last time the battery was torn up was in 1876. Everything is in ruins at the wharves. The damage to houses in the city can not be estimated. The pleasure boats on Rutledge Street Lake were piled up on the northern shore in a confused mass of broken hulks. The convent of the Sisters of Mercy was seriously damaged and unroofed. The South Battery was the scene of great confusion and damage to shipping. The streets were flooded with water and crafts of every description were washed ashore and were floating in the streets at high tide. The fishermen's boats were destroyed, and the wharves piled high with incongruous wrecks. The northwestern and central portions of the city suffered slight damage compared with that along the water front, though the entire portion of the city west of Rutledge avenue was submerged with water from one to three feet deep, and in several cases reaching the first floors. One mile of railroad track was washed away, and freight stations were damaged considerably. The following is a rough estimate of losses: Wharf property..... Churches.... City property (streets and parks)... Railroads... ashley River bridge..... Shipping...... Total.....$1,033,000

She then retired in company with a Deputy Sheriff.

D. S. Bell, who was Mr. Walkup's partner in the coal business, testified that on Friday, the 21st, when Mr. Walkup was first spoken to about poison being the suspected cause of his sickness, he said that his wife had informed him, a week or ten days before, that she had purchased strychnine to take the stains out of her clothing.

Dr. J. W. Flikins testified that he had treated Mr. Walkup in the summer of 1883 for sickness similar in its symptoms to his late fatal illness, and had been informed by Mr. Walkup that he was subect to such spells of sickness. Mr. J. R. Graham testified that he saw Mr. Walkup sick with a severe stomach and bowel complaint in the summer of Information outside the inquest so far, but reliable, is that Mr. Baldwin, a wellknown farmer near Lawrence, stated to Sheriff Wilhite and Mr. L. S. Every, in Emporia, on the day of Mr. Walkup's funeral, that in December, 1884, on Mr. Walkup's first visit to New Orleans, that gentleman, with Mr. Baldwin, the two Mr. Hatchs, nephew and son, of Des Moines, Ia., and a Mr. Green, of Jacksonville, Ill., all went from St. Louis to New Orleans on the steamer Baton Rouge, and during the passage Mr. Walkup became seriously ill just as he seemed in his recent fatal illness in Emporia, and Dr. Neal, of Nebraska, who was on the boat, prescribed for him, saying to him that he could not have many more such attacks without a fatal result. When Mr. Walkup became sick on that occasion he entrusted his money, $300 or $400, to Mr. Baldwin, and the latter said on the day Walkup's funeral that it looked to him now as if he might have been arrested for poisoning Mr. Walkup, had the latter died on the boat in December. Mr. Walkup had not then seen his wife or any other member of the Wallace family, this being his first visit to New Orleans. The following telegram was received in

NEW ORLEANS, LA., August 29 .- The Walkup poisoning case at Emporia, Kan., has naturally excited great interest in this city, where Mrs. Walkup is well known. Few believe the wife guilty, and testimony of the attendant physicians yesterday is reported by physicians here as clearing up the whole case. They say sub-nitrate of bismuth, which was given Mr. Walkup, has often resulted fatally, and quote authorities to prove their statement. National and United States Dispensary officials say that the drug frequently contains arsenic, and should be used with great care. Prof. Roberts, of Philadelphia, makes the same statement regarding bismuth of commerce, and says practitioners should be very careful in its use unless they are assured of its absolute purity. In Taylor, in a poison case reported, where the stance was taken in doses of two drachms, caused the death of an adult in nine days. The symptoms were burning in the throat, vomiting, coldness of the surface, with spasms in the limbs, inflamed larynx and inflammation of the stomach. These symptoms tally almost exactly with the Walkun case. It is the belief of many doc or . here that Mr.

Walkup was poisoned by his physicians. A NEW DEAL.

Mexico Considering the Removal of Some of the Excessive Import Duties and the Collection of More Taxes on Real E-tate EL PASO, TEX., August 28.-Senor Riorson, the newly-appointed Governor of Lower California, was interviewed here yesterday on Mexican affairs. Governor Riorson says that American business men and manufacturers look for a decided reduction of the exorbitant duties that now prevail in Mexico and obstruct her commerce. President Disz informed him that he favored and would urge taxing real estate heavily to enable this reduction of duties on imports, and would bring his personal influence to bear upon the Congress about to assemble to bring about this change. Real estate in Mexico is taxed very lightly, while import duties are relatively more burdensome in Mexico than in any other country in the world. The Governor believes this reduction will be brought about this year. Pierson is a native of Texas, and enjoys the confidence of Diaz to a very high de-

A Jealous Husband's Deed.

BALTIMORE, MD., August 28.-Last night Richard William was standing in the road at Govanstown, a few miles Israel Brown, who, seeing them, crept up behind Williams and deliberately cut his throat with a pocket knife. The wound extended from ear to ear, but Williams walked three miles to the nearest police station, where fully a pint of blood was found in his boots. The wound was sewed up, but the man is likely to die, and his assailant is in jail. Jealousy was the cause of the attempted murder.

CONFESSED.

Lucius A. White, Arrested in St. Louis for Procuring the Counterfeiting of Brazilian Bank Notes, Gives the Whole Snap Away and Relieves the Government of a Good Deal of Trouble.

St. Louis, Mo., August 29.—The Government authorities have brought the great Brazilian counterfeiting case to a very successful close by obtaining a confession from the chief party involved, Mr. Lucius A. White. About five o'clock yesterday afternoon Deputy Marshals Hicks and Hawkins called at the Four Courts, obtained the prisoner and escorted him with the utmost care to the Custom House, where he was soon ushered into the presence of Assistant District Attorney Eleneious Smith and an alleged detective. The doors were closed, the key-holes plugged up and Deputy Marshals were stationed at the doors to keep out the inquisitive. For two long hours the conference went on, and when the doors were thrown open the prisoner emerged calm, but pale, and with a look of resignation in his eyes that showed that he had become reconciled to his fate. As a result of the prolonged interview, Mr. Smith held in his hand a few sheets of paper, on which was the confession of the great conjacker. While Mr. White was resuming his journey to the Four Courts in the custody of the Marshais, Mr. Smith was engaged in folding the precious document and carefully placing it in one of the pigeon-holes of Judge Drummond's safe.

When White reached the office of the District Attorney he was informed of the strong chain of evidence against him. Attorney Smith reviewed the case, point by point, and demonstrated that the Government would be able to secure conviction beyond the shadow of a doubt. It was represented that the punishment, in case of conviction, would in all probability be the extreme penalty that the law allowed, five years in prison at hard labor. Mr. Smith stated that while the Government proposed to deal rigorously with crime and criminals, it had no intention of becoming an engine of oppression. Where it was policy, therefore, to be lenient, and when it could be consistently done, the Government always embraced the opportunity. pleaded guilty, in all probability only a slight sentence would be imposed. Of course no guarantee could be given, but in previous instances the good offices of the District Attorney had been used to the great benefit of the prisoners. It was highly probable that Judge Treat would impose a sentence of not more than a year or two if the Government was spared the time and trouble of securing a conviction. White considered the matter for some time, and finally decided for the sake of his family to make a clean breast of the affair. He made a statement of his connection with the Brazilian counterfeiting scheme, Mr. Smith taking down what was said verbatim. As soon as the prisoner was through, Mr. Smith transcribed his notes and read the statement. White made one or two trifling corrections, seized a pen and with a firm hand attached his signature to the confession. Mr. Smith signed it as witness, and the alleged detective followed suit.

evasively and with a marked hesitation that showed that he had been prompted to act a part. This strategic stroke of the Assistant District Attorney will relieve the Government of a burdensome task, and will ures Still Active-Hopes That; the Epidemic May be Soon Stayed. MONTREAL, CAN., August 29 .- The citizens yesterday were in far better spirits here than for some time past on the news gaining currency that there was a great reduction in the number of deaths from small-pox Thursday as compared with the previous day. The total number reported was only three against nineteen for the preceding twenty-four hours. The falling off was as marked in the total of new cases, there being only five as compared with seventy-five the pre-If this vious day. change continues, there is little doubt felt by medical men that the progress of the scourge will soon be permanently stayed. There will be no relaxation in the efforts of the health authorities and on the part of the citizens to eradicate it altogether from the city. The opening of all the public schools in the city has been postponed for fifteen days, and the cheap theaters will be kept closed until the epidemic is arrested permanently. The disease is very bad in St. Jean Baptiste village, the filth of the place and neglect of precautions by the inhabitants rendering all efforts futile to stop its progress. The municipal authorities are now alive to the crisis, and have appointed an energetic health inspector, who is actively engaged in using disinfectants in the houses and all other proper means to stay the disease. The health officer reports the deaths since Saturday at twenty, and the number ill at fifty-four.

Several denials came yesterday from the Mayors of villages outside where it was reported the disease had appeared.

Caused By Dynamite. PHILADELPHIA, PA., August 28 .- Chief of Dectives Kelly received an anonymous note this morning in reference to the explosion on the steamer Felton, as follows: The Felton explosion was caused by dynamite. The people who had it did not intend to explode it, but were on the boat at the time, and were taking it home to use. It will be impossible for you to discover them, but to remove suspicion of evil intent from others, this statement is made. Your investigation should be to that end.

Not On the War Path. PIERRE, DAK., August 28 .- There was much excitement here yesterday owing to a report that the Indians at the Cheyenne Agency above Pierre were on the war path and had threatened the agent. A messenger was dispatched to the agency, and it was found that no trouble existed and the Indians, were perfectly satisfied and happy. Major Swan, the agent, when told of the report, was surprised. The Cheyenne Agency is believed to be one of the best managed in the country, and the Indians are far

Will Revolt If Riel is Hanged. SYRACUSE, N.Y., August 29 .- A Herald correspondent had an interview with a ice, whose tribe, numbering 5,000 Indians, is located near Pierreville, Ont., on the troubles in the Northwest. The Indian said his people looked upon Riel as a benefactor, and if the Canadian Government hangs him nearly all the Indisns would rise in revolt. The chief became excited while talking, and said that every one of his tribe owned repeating rifles, and, while they were short of money and ammunition, they would surely join the revolt. He says the Government will not dare to hang Riel.
